

CEREMONIES WILL START PEACE MEET

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL BE RECEIVED BY STEPHEN PICHON, FRENCH MINISTER

POINCARÉ IN ADDRESS

American Delegates Will Be Seated At Table Next To British Minister

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Paris, Jan. 16.—The beginning of the peace conference, which will be marked with ceremonies as weighty as an occasion. A detachment of troops will pay honors to the arriving delegates and Stephen Pichon, the French foreign minister will receive President Wilson at the head of the steps at the foreign ministry and accompany him to the room where the meeting will begin at 3 o'clock.

Use Horseshoe Table
The principal delegates will sit around a horseshoe table, the inside part of this table being reserved for others. The delegations will be grouped by states in alphabetical order as they appear in the almanac de Gotha. American delegates will be at one end, then those of the British Empire, France, Italy and Japan in order named. After them will come representatives of other states, also seated alphabetically.

When all are seated President Poincaré will take the presidential army chair and make his opening address. It is understood he will refer to the tragic epoch ending so glorious for the entente and which for four years upheaved the world. He is expected also to refer to the immense task of universal reconstruction which must be the work of the conference and the high ideals of the justice which will be observed during the deliberations. He will then conclude by declaring the session open and will then withdraw.

With Wilson, Pichon will take his place in the chair as chief of the French delegation, this being his right as the congress is meeting at the capital of France. He will request the assembly to elect officers which, besides a president, will include vice-presidents and a general secretary.

Rules for the congress will next be read. It is expected they will be ratified as they stand after which they will be made public.

Formal invitations to attend the sessions were sent out last night by the French delegation to Ambassadors of various countries. These invitations announce the number of representatives accorded to each country and ask the diplomats to transmit invitations immediately to the person or persons to attend.

Discussion Held Secret
Paris, Jan. 16.—Only the delegates know anything about the convention which preceded today's discussion to keep proceedings of the peace con-

MAJORITY OF YANK SOLDIERS TAKEN TO EUROPE BY U. S. NAVY

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Paris, Jan. 16.—Official figures now are available showing the full extent to which American ships transported the American army of approximately 2,079,000 men to Europe and also showing the percentage of vessels reported by American warships, irrespective of what vessels were carrying the troops. These statistics vary from the previously announced figures which presented a larger proportion carried in British ships and escorted by the British navy.

The official figures show that 46.25 per cent of all the American troops were transported exclusively in American ships, 40.75 per cent were carried in American naval transports. The figures show that the percentage actually carried in British ships was 48.25 per cent as against the much higher figures recently made public. In addition three per cent was carried in Italian ships bound to the British and another 2.50 per cent was carried in ships of other nations.

The American navy, however, escorted and guarded the transport of 82.75 per cent of all the troops, representing 1,720,386 men. The British escorted 14.12 per cent, representing 297,908 men. The French escorted 3.13 per cent, representing 61,617 men.

SAYS CONSTITUENT SOCIETY MUST DECIDE DESTINY OF RUSSIANS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

OMSK, Siberia, Jan. 16.—The destiny of Russia can be decided only by a national constituent society. Whether the future Russia will be a monarchy or the more radical republic does not concern the present government.

This was the striking utterance of Admiral Kolchak, confirming his statement that the people will be given opportunity to register their desires who signed in the presence of a correspondent, a history document, proclaiming on all Russian national election at the earliest practicable moment.

Later he informed representatives of the entente powers the Russian government desired the trans-Siberian railway to be turned over to an international commission over which John F. Stevens would be chairman.

Admiral Kolchak said he was anxious that the American people should allow him to complete his program of reconstruction, adding that the work of the dictator is liable to cause misunderstandings. He then proceeded to justify the coup by which he gained control of Omsk.

GERMAN GIRLS SPEAK TO U. S. SOLDIERS UNDER ARREST.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.—Twenty German girls who were engaged in sweeping streets at Andermarch near here have been arrested, charged with violation of Gen. Pershing's order forbidding them to talk to American soldiers. These arrests have served to emphasize the determination of the American command not to permit fraternalization in occupied regions. Approximately the same number have been proven guilty of violating the order, and have been deported to points within the German lines.

There has been a slight relaxation in the enforcement of the order in remote centers, but here and in the larger towns in Virginia observe. The provost, or military police are certain to interfere should an officer or soldier attempt to talk to a woman on the street or in a cafe.

LABOR LEADERS CALL OFF ALL STRIKES IN ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Buenos Aires, Jan. 16.—At a conference with President Irigoyen yesterday, labor leaders agreed to call off all strikes now in force in Argentina with the exception of the one which has virtually paralyzed shipping in the harbor. Negotiations between the different parties of the country indicate that conditions are much improved as a result of orders sent to the various unions.

President Irigoyen promised the labor representatives to do everything possible to meet the demands of the workmen.

Reports from the provinces have shown that the troubles did not have their origin in Bolsheviks, but were due to conflicts incident to strikes.

Recapitulation of the casualties inflicted during the disorders shows that between 850 and 1,000 persons were killed and 3,500 or 4,000 were more or less seriously wounded. It is probable that the final figures will be much higher as it is believed many of the killed and wounded were carried away by rioters.

Get 7 Per Cent for YOUR Money

We are selling "across the counter" direct to Milwaukee and Wisconsin people an issue of $3,600,000 of 7%, 5-year, bond-secured Gold Notes of The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company. More than a million dollars' worth of the Notes have been bought in the first 30 days, mostly by Milwaukee people who know the Company and the property.

Issuance and sale of these Notes was authorized by the Wisconsin Railroad Commission to finance the growth of greater Milwaukee's electric service system.

Principal of the Notes will be repaid in cash Nov. 1, 1923.

These Notes are on sale in $50, $100, $500 and $1,000 sizes. They sell at par. Your Notes start drawing 7% interest for you from the day you buy them. You draw interest twice a year—May 1 and Nov. 1—by simply cutting off your interest coupon, taking it to the nearest bank, and getting cash for it. These Notes are readily saleable, in case of need.

Milwaukee is as solidly prosperous as any city in the world. This Company supplies virtually all of Milwaukee's electric power, light, heat and transportation services. The State-appraised value of the property back of the Notes exceeds funded debt by over $16,000,000. The State rate regulation law assures a reasonable yearly return on State-appraised value. Besides being a general obligation of The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company, these Notes are further secured by deposit of $4,500,000 of 40-year bonds of the Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Company with the First Trust Company of Milwaukee as Trustee for the Note buyers. These Companies, thus joint guarantors of these Notes, during their twenty-two years in business have never failed to pay on the due date every dollar of their obligations, with interest as agreed.

Is YOUR MONEY earning 7% with equal SAFETY? If not, we shall be glad to sell you some of these Notes.

Janesville buyers are asked to ORDER DIRECT FROM THE COMPANY. Address: SECURITIES DEPARTMENT, Public Service Building, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. You can send payment with order, or, if you wish it, we will deliver the Notes in care of your home bank, C. O. D. If your home banker advises you not to buy these Notes, and tries to sell you something else paying a lower interest rate, you can tell him the Milwaukee banks have bought hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of these Notes, for themselves and their customers.

DO IT NOW!

Prof. Holden in his address before the Twilight Club, Tuesday night, hit the nail on the head when he said
a city was made of men—not factories and business. He made an impression when he declared that no matter how many industrial plants a city boasted, a municipality would not be successful unless it had men who had vision; men with determination who would make sacrifices for the benefit of the community.

Janesville has her industries and will have more in the near future.
Within a few years many families are coming here to make their home and it will be necessary for us who are on the ground to watch for every opportunity to improve the social conditions of our city.

If there are any plague spots in Janesville, now is the time to root them out. To allow them to grow and spread will prevent the realization of a bigger and better Janesville. The improvement of a city cannot be built upon a foundation honeycombed with vice, disease and unsanitary conditions.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars are going to be spent in rejuvenating this city in a few years and the investors should be assured of the cooperation of those at the head of the government in wiping from our midst
those things which will be a detriment to progress.

Not only must our boys, who are to be the future leaders of the community, be kept interested in Janesville, but they must be kept free from evil influences; they must be kept clean in mind and encouraged to see the things which are needed to make the community a desirable place in which to live.

Janesville has as fine a rising generation as any city in the world and with the encouragement which can be given to them now they can "repay a hundredfold any effort made to direct their efforts in the right way.

LET US BE FAIR.

The Y. M. C. A. has been criticised by returned soldiers and others for its conduct of affairs with the United States army. Much has been said concerning its alleged shortcomings and about the charges it made for materials supplied to the fighting men.

The matter has been investigated to some extent and it has been found that many of these charges are without foundation, while others had a basis of fact.

It is admitted by officials of the organization that mistakes were made in some instances, but that they were due to the faults of individuals rather than to those of the association as a unit.

The Y. M. C. A. undertook a big task when it offered to assume the responsibilities of following the American Expeditionary Force into France, and supplying the soldiers with comforts. It was forced to occupy a position different from most of the welfare organizations which undertook similar work. The responsibilities of the Y. M. C. A. were defined by army orders issued on the authority of Gen.
Pershing.

In discussing his findings, after making an investigation of charges which have been circulated, Henry H. Oggard, general field secretary,
A. E. F., has to say:

"I feel that bits of poor judgment,
as shown by some Y. M. C. A. workers who were not equal to their tasks, were singled out and given publication, whereas probably during the same hour that incompetent canteen workers was making his mistake, there were happening throughout France ten thousand good and morale-building acts on the part of the Y. M. C. A.
concerning which nothing was said.
Why select the mistakes and hold them up as indicative of a tremendously constructive work? It is unfair."

"This inability of the association to procure anything like sufficient ocean tonnage to care for the requirements led us to enter into large contracts with local manufacturers in France to provide certain lines of goods which could be manufactured in France from raw materials supplied by us. This business grew until the association was in operation under contract either in whole or in part, forty-three factories in France, these factories turning out vast quantities of chocolate, biscuit, canned fruit, etc. In order that it may be understood that in the operation of these plants the association's plans and methods were wholly approved by the army, it may not be out of place to say that a couple of months ago the army seriously considered taking the contracts for the operation of these plants out of the hands of the Y. M. C. A. and operating them itself, using a certain proportion of the output to supplement the quartermaster's stores and turning over to the Y. M. C. A. for sale in their canteens such amounts as the army would not require. After an inspection of these plants by a committee appointed for the purpose,
the army investigators frankly stated that we were operating these plants, they felt, more successfully than they could and they would prefer to leave them in our hands. They would purchase from us instead of us purchasing from them, was their final decision."

"It is frankly admitted that it was not possible to keep these canteens open twenty-four hours a day. Certain hours for operation were absolutely necessary as in the conduct of any well-regulated business. In fact, at one time at Blois our staff were so severely overworked that the commanding officer issued a pre-emptory order closing our canteens at certain hours and requiring us to give our secretaries an opportunity for needed rest.

"It is frankly admitted that it was

lutely necessary as in the conduct of

that the association purchased supplies from quartermaster's stores, then moving them a short distance to our own huts and selling them at an advance in price. This is absolutely untrue. It would be useless for me to attempt to establish the fact that occasionally by mistake or through the unwise of some secretary, isolated cases of this sort may not have occurred, but as a general practice I can state that any such accusation implies general policy is absolutely false.

"As to the adjustment of the association's canteen prices, these were always public property and subject at all time to investigation and correction by the army. While it was manifestly impossible for the association to make a practice of selling at quartermaster's prices all of its supplies, bought in the open market at exorbitant prices and transported to France under heavy marine insurance, goods in the handling of which there was an enormous shrinkage on account of loss at the docks, piling at every stage of their progress toward the place of distribution, it should be understood that the prices the association charged over its canteen counter for standard brands of cigarettes, tobacco and cigars were at no time as high as those charged at the retail stores in Chicago, New York or elsewhere in the U. S. A. In other words the doughboy purchases his smoking materials in France at the Y. M. C. A. canteen at less money than he would have had to pay in Chicago.

"The reason he complains is because the commissary sales stores wherever available, sells its merchandise anywhere in the world at the cost of the article at point of manufacture in fulfillment of a federal law to this effect. Although none of the money contributed by the American people to the association during 1917 was solicited on the basis of operating canteens in France, in order to offset this criticism the prices of all tobacco were reduced on August 1 to the quartermaster's prices regardless of the loss which might follow."

AIDING A WORTHY CAUSE.

Lutherans of the United States are assuming world leadership for the Lutheran cause and they should be encouraged in their efforts.

It has been announced that the National Lutheran Council is organizing a campaign for $500,000 to be used for distinctly reconstruction purposes. Of this amount, $375,000 will be used for overseas service, helping the Lutheran churches in France, Finland, Estonia and other parts of Europe. Apart from the destruction and desolation of the war, their church life is seriously threatened by the growing chaos and Boilevism.

While other states were racing to get into the honor column of thirty-six states which will be first to ratify the federal prohibition amendment which will make the nation dry, the Wisconsin assembly is backing in the traces in hopes that delay in action will give the wets a chance to defeat the measure. If the lower house had told the rules earlier and approved the amendment, Wisconsin could have rounded out a war record which would have been second to none.

Old John B. Corn is gasping his last breath. He has been operated upon so often in the last few months that his strength is ebbing rapidly. Even his physicians admitted that his case was almost hopeless when the prohibition malady attacked him.

If you believe in the future of Janesville get out and preach its advantages as a place to live. Then serve a step farther by offering your services in a capacity which will aid those who are striving to make it bigger and better.

Assemblyman Nolan of our city was selected as the man to offer the resolution providing that a referendum vote on the prohibition amendment be cast in April. Mr. Nolan is stepping into the limelight without any hesitation.

PRESS COMMENT.

Asked Beauty:
The world sure does move.
Women delegates were present and sat in the executive session of the Na-

Why Waste Time?
Related criticisms of the methods retribution. We are sorry to think of the innocent who are made to suffer

through the acts of the wrongdoers, but above all else we should keep in mind what would have happened if the disloyal had achieved their purposes.—

Why Not Stop It?
It is not pleasant reading to note in the senate proceedings charges that the government is not making proper received in New York harbor with offi-

We're With You:

Caviler and imported cheese,
This, I wail from life's wilderness;
"All I want is the luxuries."

I would stand on the mountains high,
Far above duty and its distress,
Watching the multitudes passing by,
Dimly seeing and caring less;
Thrilled with the rapture of success,
Day by day I would take my ease,
Dreaming and drowsing, in idleness;
"All I want is the luxuries."

Money I fancy would cure my sigh,
Pence would follow with fame's
reward,
Love would be true and never die,
Never a care would my joy sup-

Never to priest should my soul confess,
Gold would flourish on barrenness.
All I want is the luxuries.

Master, cannot your children guess That peace isn't purchased with golden fees?
Never again shall my lins express:
"All I want is the luxuries."

Chapparal says the following are a few mistakes the discharged soldier will make when he reaches home
from the war:

1. Ducking in a manhole if an automobile siren sounds.
2. Reaching for a gas mask while passing an onion field.
3. Snapping at attention if a male brays.
4. Saluting and saying "Sir" when addressing his wife.
5. Calling the corporal of the guard if a woman speaks to him on the street.
6. Steering clear of saloons, booze, etc. (?)
7. Using a bayonet on German pancakes.
8. Wearing a woolen undershirt to remind him of cooties.
9. Borrowing Y. M. C. A. stationary.

M. E. BROTHERHOOD CONDEMS NOLAN'S STAND ON PROHIBITION

Sends Telegram to Assemblyman Protesting Against Attempt To Delay Action.

Strong resolutions condemning the action of the assemblyman from this district, T. S. Nolan, in proposing legislation calculated to delay the passage of the federal prohibition amendment, were passed last evening by the Methodist Brotherhood, at their regular meeting held in the church hall, representing the sentiments of 90 men assembled at that time. The matter was proposed to have some weight, and it was voted that a copy of the resolution be sent in a night letter to Mr. Nolan so that he would know the sentiments of that portion of his constituency this morning.

The meeting designated as "Farmers' Night" and an expert on agricultural topics, Prof. L. F. Gruber, of the university gave a practical and interesting talk along these lines.

Calls Farming Profession.

He contended that farming is great business, and that agriculture had been raised to the level of the profession during the last few years. He contrasted the methods of farming prevailing now with those of 40 or even 20 years ago, and touched on some of the new things presented in farm methods at the present time. One of these which he dwelt on forcibly was the use, as helping to provide food for the dairy cattle of this district.

A few years ago, he said, "the soil was laughable at a foot proportion, but now there are about 60,000 acres in the state, and the dairy interests could not be conducted without their aid."

The subject of liming of the soil and the use of fertilizer was also touched upon, and the increased yield obtained by their use was explained.

Discusses Comparative Values.

He went briefly into the subject of the comparative values of different forage crops for cattle, and by the use of charts demonstrated the value in terms of digestible material which could be produced on an acre by the different grasses and grains. "Timothy" he showed, "as a crop wore out the fertility of the soil quickly, and had less in food value than many other kinds of crops. He demonstrated that timothy, clover, corn, silage and alfalfa in the order named produce the largest proportions of feed for cattle, the latter having about four times the yield per acre as compared to that of timothy. The alfalfa showed the added value of building up the soil.

Flavors County Agent.

He spoke about the value of a county agent to the farm districts and gave many instances coming under his observation where their work had been of great importance to farmers, saying them dollars and cents in knowledge of what is needed on their farms.

An informal discussion with the men present brought out many interesting facts connected with the growing of white clover, the growing of tobacco using up the fertility of the soil, and the reason why clover helped in the fertility of the soil.

Dr. E. E. Loomis gave a cordial greeting on behalf of the brotherhood, who had been spending several days in the city, and offered a resolution that the mid-winter meeting of the brotherhood be every year a "Farmers' Day" Program. This resolution was passed unanimously.

B. K. Overton of the town of La Prairie was present and gave a tribute to former county agent, L. C. Markham, whose worth to the agricultural interests of Rock County, he said could not be measured.

Entertains with Songs.

Mr. Overton also contributed to the enjoyment of the occasion by singing a couple of songs which were enthusiastically received. They were "Land of McDermott" and "The Home Road" by Carpenter. With both these Mrs. Richardson played the piano accompaniment.

Miss Clara Shawan and Mr. Waldman contributed two duets also, which were beautifully rendered. Miss Bennett was at the piano. They were, "We Two Are Maying" by Smith, and "By the Falls of Minnetonka" by Cadman.

About 100 men were present and enjoyed the delicious supper which was served at seven o'clock in charge of Mrs. Herbert Beck, John Conway, the president of the brotherhood, presided at the meeting and C. E. Moore introduced Prof. Gruber.

Voice of the People

I have read in your paper of how the city aldermen and mayor are striving for a dry state in Janesville. Now suppose they all get together some day, very soon, and take a trip down Park Ave. to the river and take a look at the river bank for two blocks West. Then some warm spring day take another trip to the same place, wearing gas masks, so they will be able to stay while they inspect the dumping grounds of the trash just across the street from people's residences. Then let them ask each other if it is fair to the people to have such a place within the city limits where people have to live and love to breath such filth, day after day and have to clear their lawns of papers, tin cans, leaves etc. that are blown on them. And in the summer have to clean the dust from ashes from their houses.

The stuff is not only being thrown here but is in the center of the street at the present time. Then let them ask themselves "Would you like this in front of your house?" If not, why not stop it?

A property owner across the street.

To the Editor: What is Assemblyman T. S. Nolan doing for our district before the state, and for our state before the sister-state of states?

A political referendum before. Who wants referendum on the eve of dry victory? Is this repentence or hoodwink?

The dry amendment will pass among the states beyond a preadventure.

Therefore Mr. Nolan precious move for dry only affixes his own district before our great state which has gained more dry territory by the will of the people this last year, than any other state in the union.

His states are not states among the states. At this intense time of the states when the states are hurrying for a place among the "immortal thirty-six" as if it were devoted to German customs in general (which are just in bad repute) and under control of Milwaukee policed in particular, which are just now an abomination in the whole country.

Should Wisconsin fail to pass this amendment—she will be alone among the states that have not passed dry. Thirty-six will pass anyway and the other states will then just to get on the band wagon it for no other reason.

Now in view of the brewery control of the German-American alliance which led to the revocation of its charter for pro-German work, and in view of the fact that Wisconsin has been placed in bad repute by supposed pro-German control, the failure of the state to stand for this great American movement, now would be a tragedy.

We can pardon Mr. Nolan's devotion to the Democratic doctrine of state's rights in a theoretic matter, but I misjudge the insight and temper of his constituency, if after his non-committal attitude on this burning question this sudden move does not, if he presses it, have more back kick than he thinks.

J. A. Melrose.

I have regretted very much to see the stand taken by our representative, T. S. Nolan, in his resolution in the lower house yesterday. If Mr. Nolan was actuated by the sentiment expressed by Senator Bird, Mr. Nolan didn't have enough of a large number of his constituents wanted. Wisconsin had an immortal chance to get in on the thirty-six, but threw this chance to the wind, and what I am ashamed of is it was thrown to the wind by a citizen of Janesville. We might have expected it from some brewery ridden city. But if any such city in the state had such instructions its representative was stuck enough to use our representative's name, etc. Now, some places like some people it seems, are born to die the way they live, even though repentence is offered them, and all we can say for them is we admire their nerve. For Wisconsin to come in later will not change the fact that a supreme attempt was made to keep her out entirely, and should she swing in line at the final vote, Janesville's representative has cast the ball for us. We must fear the continuance of still doing what we have the privilege of getting drunk if we want to. But we will have to get drunk on sour apples or at some farmer's silo. Uncle Sam is on the water wagon.

FRANKLIN F. LEWIS.

Automobile Show At Milwaukee

The annual automobile show in Milwaukee will be held at the Auditorium, Jan. 24-30 by the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers, Inc., comprising the leading automobile manufacturers of the country and a large number of the best known passenger cars and trucks manufactured in the United States. The automobile show will be the first trade exposition held in the reconstructed Auditorium whose one hundred thousand square feet of floor space will be utilized by the seventy-five exhibitors of passenger cars and trucks and fifty other exhibitors showing a variety of other motor vehicles.

This will be the first after-war opportunity of seeing the leading makes of cars in their Sunday livery and some of the samples that will be shown as indicators of the styles and models for 1919 will set the motor car owners of Wisconsin in a gossipping mood, for some vast changes and many new ideas have been incorporated in the 1919 models.

More than 1,200 dealers, representing the Milwaukee distributors, will visit the show and with them will go hundreds of prospective purchasers to clinch sales and delivery of the first of the new models in their respective towns. The Milwaukee hotels have already received hundreds of requests, indicating great attendance at this automobile show, which surpasses that of any previous year. The decorative scheme will be more elaborate than ever and will consist of a color scheme of colors blending in the grays, old-rose, green and white.

On the stage in the auditorium there will be an exhibition of aeroplanes, liberty motors and tanks of government type.

A number of Milwaukee distributors have announced the addition of aeroplanes to their lines of automotive products, and several sales have been made to prominent young men in Wisconsin who intend using them for passenger and commercial purposes.

AWOMAN'S BUSINESS

BY ZOE BECKLEY

RENDING THE VEIL
A man who cannot return a woman's love will still find pleasure in that woman's "I love you"—if only she does not say it in words. Her eyes may be haunted with the message; her love for him may be an open secret. But as long as the words remain unsaid, the man can still either draw butter from her self-sacrifice, or he can tell himself he is mistaken in reading that her love is for some one else.

But let the woman utter the three once he finds her love a stone about his neck. He cannot pick and choose as to her meaning. It is up against a situation about which he must do something at once; a situation with it taken rarest tact of the heart to save from all the prig, and save a man, or all in one.

Wait, a man married and in love with his wife, felt to the full the earnest and distrust of Lucy's expression of her love for him. Although freer from convention feeling than most men, he wished that Lucy had been more conventionally reticent. "Well is there anything I can say, Lucy?" he asked awkwardly. "I am sorry," he stopped.

"Sorry for what?" Lucy prompted. "Sure that I love you? Or that I told you?"

"Of course, though your telling is the less important."

"To me it is almost the more important." Lucy broke in with the fervor of a zealot. "All my life I have suffered because convention forces women to be silent on those vital matters of life. As a girl I accumulated foolish and harmful misconceptions on woman's fundamental nature, because my mother thought it unbecoming to speak to her daughter on such matters. As a young woman I lost happiness for two lives, because I was taught it was unbecoming for a woman to speak out her love for men; and the man I loved was too shy to tell me he loved me. As I later learned—you don't know what cruelty—from my husband, and for years

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married twelve years and I have three little children. I have reason to believe that my husband was true to me and loved no one else, but now I am beginning to doubt him.

When so many of our men were called away by the draft he was promoted and in his new position he has a stenographer under him. He is the stenographer in a room all by themselves working. She is a very pretty girl and one he could very easily love except for her character.

We live out of town and my husband drives to work every day. Lately he has been picking up this girl and taking her to work. He also drives her home. Even when I am in town and go home with him he takes along.

Now he has told me that he thinks we should have her out to dinner some night. I think this is going too far. He must think I am blind if I can't see what is going on right under my nose.

What can I do to make him believe himself? Shall I have a plain talk with him? ANXIOUS WIFE.

You may be sure that if your husband was not so honorable, interested in the stenographer he would hide the evidence of his interest from you and the public.

It is a common thing now for men to drive office girls to and from work. Every generous-hearted man does so if it is not an inconvenience.

Probably the stenographer is valuable help and he wants her to feel contented in her position. As a means of promoting a friendly feeling he would like to entertain her in his home where she can meet his wife and children.

You have absolutely no cause to be jealous and should be glad that he trusts in your hospitality and faith in him. The firm would not place him in a position he now holds if they did not believe in his character.

Entertain the girl as you would like her to and make up your mind to like her. Absolutely never say anything against her to your husband.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am eighteen years old and seem to be very popular with the boys. The worst of

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

CHRONIC CONJUNCTIVITIS
In a previous article I described the condition of the lining of the eyelids and the covering of the eyeballs, or trachoma, or "red sore eyes," which is a very contagious and very obstinate chronic eye disease endangering the eyesight and prevailing in various parts of the country, especially in Kentucky and the miasmic regions of Virginia and West Virginia.

In simple chronic conjunctivitis (inflammation of the lining of the eyelids and the covering of the eyeballs) the lids look reddened and smooth (not rough as in trachoma) and in old cases the lids are thickened. There is little increase in size, and perhaps only enough to make the lids stick together, more or less in the morning, at the inner angle particularly. In many instances the eyes are dryer than normal. There is more or less itching or burning, feeling of dryness or a sensation as of sand or foreign particles in the eyes, some sensitivity to light, and the eyes tire easily. These symptoms are more annoying in the evening.

Causes of this chronic conjunctivitis are, first, unhygienic surroundings such as foul air, and especially air laden with tobacco smoke, insufficient sleep, late hours, exposure to irritating dust in occupation. In some cases eye strain due to various errors of refraction is a factor and the conjunctivitis will not improve until the difficulty is corrected by the oculist.

Topers are famous for their chronic conjunctivitis, and what one might call old tea-souls are like these sick to the teeth. An old tea-soul isn't an old person necessarily, but a person who thinks old tea-tea that has been boiled or steeped for hours. Tea or coffee is harmless for most people and beneficial for many when prepared and taken in due moderation; either becomes injurious if boiled even a few seconds. Boiling converts the beverage into a solution of tannin.

Mild chronic conjunctivitis often proves dependent on chronic troubles within the nasal cavity and can be relieved only by treatment of the underlying condition.

A weak solution of zinc sulphate and boric acid seems to give much relief in cases of chronic conjunctivitis accompanied with secretion or sticking of the lids mornings:

Zinc sulphate ..... 1 ounce

Boric acid ..... 8 grains

Bottled rain water or distilled water ..... 1/2 pint

Drop a few drops in each eye each morning. If lids tend to stick together mornings, smear their edges with a 1 per cent ointment.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

BY EDITH MORIARTY

because I was ashamed to tell the world I had failed in my marriage. If he had not died in drunken delirium I suppose I would still be talking his beating because asking for a divorce would be "letting the world know" that I no longer loved my husband. I'm through I tell you, with this hideous silence women must keep on matters that make or break their lives.

"It's hard enough, God knows, to deal with these matters when they're brought out into the light. Why must we add to our burdens the keeping of these things in the dark?"

"The worst of this secrecy we women must keep on before the world is that we begin to hide the truth from ourselves. You are married and I must not love you; least of all must I tell you that I love you. So I begin by trying to hide myself from the truth. I lie to myself. I try to live as though you were nothing to me—and I succeed about as well as a ship in a storm with its compass all wrong."

"Well, I'm through with lying to myself. At last I know where I stand. And because I've told you the truth, I no longer have to be the dupe of my hopes. I no longer have to pluck flower petals to find out whether you live me or Janet. Isn't that gain enough, even though the truth is bitter?"

Walt grasped her hands in his. "Lucy, a woman with your courage to look life in the face needs no comforting from me," he said. "I'd rather have your courage to face life squarely than be happy and not have it look to me, Lucy, for anything I can give you without being false to my love for Janet. You, a woman any man would glory in to call 'dear friend'!"

She smiled sadly, but said nothing. She joked so often so much alone that she was torn between his desire to do something to comfort her and his inability to think of anything he could do. So he bade her good night and softly closed the door behind him, leaving her alone with her thoughts.

Have you ever noticed how the American and English women, oh yes, and the French too, adorn many of their native costumes of their eastern sisters, not for street wear, no indeed, but they adopt them for use as negligees. The harem costume of the Turkish women is one of the favorite styles to be used in the modern negligee, then there is the pajama, or coat and trouser garb which comes from China and which is popular for sleeping garments as well as for negligees. Long, loose, flowing robes patterned after the dress of the ancient Greeks are also favorite styles in negligee gowns.

The Japanese kimono, of course, is always popular for use as a negligee and this year it seems to be especially in demand. Pictured is a beautiful kimono which is practical at the same time. A brilliant blue, almost an electric shade, novelty crepe de chine fashion it. Heavy hand embroidery in red, blue, orange, yellow and beige give a brilliant contrast to the blue and beige pussy willow that lines it throughout. An emroidered sash ties in a butterfly at the back.

Although she was totally blind, Mrs. Annie Peterson, aged 67 and a native of Germany, is out for a record of 100 sweaters for the boys of the American army. She cannot speak word of English, but her sympathies have been with the United States all through the war. She has already knit ninety-five sweaters.

The Syracuse, N. Y., Council of Women's Clubs recently suggested that all girls who work in public places in that city should wear uniforms and that stenographers wear less transparent waists.

Women in England have helped in the making of every type of weapon of war, from heavy artillery to rifles from huge shells to machine gun belts, and in the construction of airplanes.

Well, the little china egg didn't roll down to the Babbling Brook and get lost in the Old Mill Stream. You feared it might in the last story, for the big, bold, brawny boy, you remember, looked out of his house just at the moment when Mrs. Rat dropped this little china egg, ran over and picked it up.

"Whose been robbing my hen-house?" he shouted.

And just then little Billy Bunny peeked through the gate and when Lutherfordfoot, the old gentleman rabbit.

And when he saw Billy Bunny, he shouted, "Halt! Present arms!" And then he gave the little rabbit a drum and told him to get in line and play Yankee Doodle Dandy just as well as he could.

"Rub, a dub, dub," went the little drum, and away went the regiment to Camp Cabbage. And pretty soon they had the tents set up and a big pole fixed in the ground, and then the big American eagle fastened Old Glory to the top and the band played.

And in the next story I'll tell you what happened after that.

Well, the big farmer saw the little rabbit, he shouted again, only louder this time.

"Billy Bunny did, I know it," and he picked up a pitchfork and ran after the little rabbit.

Well, in less than five hundred short seconds Billy Bunny was safe in the Friendly Forest. And just then he heard the trinkle of many bells.

"What's that?" he asked, and then Robbie Redbreast flew down from a tree.

"Don't you know what those bells are little rabbit?" They are Liberty Bells," and then the little re-breeded bird began to sing:

"Ring Liberty Bells, across the hills, And through the forest wide,

"Ring o'er the hills and down the rills,

"And through the country side,

"For every one must do his bit,

"To fill each gallant soldier's kit,

"And then would you believe it, the little rabbit, he went to every one of those friends whose warning had not been heeded, "that I was getting tired, but I thought all I had to do was to get rested. I didn't know I had to go through purgatory."

And all of a sudden, off in the distance came the sound of a bugle, and pretty soon a regiment of bunny boys came marching down the road. And right in front of them was Uncle Lucky.

"Lucky, Yes, sir. General Lucky,

CHAPTER XXIV.

Daphne wanted to run away from her thoughts and she walked for a mile or two up the deep ravine of Broadway. She dared not go back to Mrs. Chivvis just yet with her bad news. She thought of asking Clay for a loan. She swept the appalling idea from her brain with a puff of derision. Besides, he was out of town, Bayard had said. She thought of asking Tom Duane for it. She tried to blow that idea from her mind, but it kept drifting back like a bit of stubborn thistle-down. She could not outwalk it.

At length she grew so desperate that she stopped at a telephone booth and brazenly called up Duane's number. He chanced to be at home. When he heard her voice he cried:

"Oh Lord, it's good to hear you. Sing again, sing again, nightingale!"

"I'm no nightingale. I'm a business woman, offering you an investment."

She told him the whole story. The name of Mrs. Romilly made him whistle. "Old Gorgon Zola," he called her, and added, "You're a made woman."

"But the clothes aren't made, and I can't make 'em till I get some money. Would you—could you advance me a little on the most excellent security?"

"How much do you want? Where shall I bring it?"

"Mail two—or five hundred dollars to the shop will you? And I can never thank you enough."

"Flush. It's me that thanks you. Don't you want more?"

"It will be there in the early mail and I may call round later to put a mortgage or something on the place."

"Good-by," she chuckled, and hung up the receiver. She was crying softly.

BRONCHIAL TROUBLE FOR 16 YEARS, AND COUGHED CONSTANTLY

Then Mrs. Crawshaw stopped her cough so quickly it alarmed her.

"I had suffered from lung trouble, bronchial trouble and asthma for 16 years. In January, 1904, I had an unusually severe attack, resulting in pneumonia and was confined to my bed for 4 months. Then I began to mend, but my cough never left me.

The following October, I tried Milks Emulsion. After taking it a few days my cough gave way, and ceased entirely after taking another bottle—so suddenly. In fact, that I became alarmed. Getting over my fears, I took the bottle more than 3 months previously I had coughed night and day, but my cough ceased entirely. For 16 years I have had the best medical assistance, and used every kind of medicine, but I always came skeptical. But the results from Milks Emulsion were nothing short of marvelous."—Mrs. J. H. Crawshaw, 1438 Grand Avenue, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

For real quick relief in bronchial or other severe coughs, and hard colds, Milks Emulsion is really remarkable. The whole system is built up, and strengthened, through all the trouble.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and powders. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended for all nervous conditions, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of asthma, chronic bronchitis and tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and catarrhal trouble promptly relieved, usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. A. A. Milks Emulsion is a great favorite with sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee: Take a bottle home with you and if it fails to bring all the relief you expect, and you are not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 50¢ and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terra Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by J. F. Baker.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists cars that drew up in lengthening queues ran to the scene of Wetherell's disaster.

At first they could not see Wetherell, but they saw Daphne and her peril, and they set frantically to work to drag her free. But she was so caught that they could not release her until they should remove the car. They pulled and heaved, but it was jammed into the culvert and the ditch so tight that they could not budge it, though they took risk enough and suffered blistered hands and charred clothes.

At last one chauffeur fastened a chain to the rear axle of Wetherell's car and to the front axle of his, and by alternate backing and swerving, dragged and hoisted Wetherell's car upward and downward while other men snatched Daphne from beneath and away from the flames just as they were nibbling at her skirts.

At the same time they disclosed the body of Wetherell and with huge difficulty fetched it forth. Still others snatched Daphne from beneath and away from the flames just as they were nibbling at her skirts.

At the same time they disclosed the body of Wetherell and with huge difficulty fetched it forth. Still others snatched Daphne from beneath and away from the flames just as they were nibbling at her skirts.

The last thing Daphne had known was the sensation of being shaken in a helpless mouse in a tortoise's mouth. The next she knew was that she was seated on the edge of a ditch and leaning against the shoulder of a kneeling woman in evening dress.

CHAPTER XXV.

Underneath the machine lay the relict of Wetherell, who would suffer no more here. Close by was Daphne Kip, whom a brief unconsciousness gave a short respite from torture. She was not alive enough to be afraid of the long, lean flames about the gasoline tank, though they kept springing at her like wolfhounds held in a weakening leash. They had not yet quite reached her, but they missed her legs and lost.

A small distance off, Lella lay still, in closest her first ungraceful attitude, oblivious for a few moments of the outrages the blind forces of momentum had wreaked on her with the fury of a Bill Stiles trying to beat a woman to death.

LAKOTA CARDINALS WILL OPEN SEASON AT ARMORY TONIGHT

Local Basket Ball Team Will Play First Camp Grant Quintet in Initial Game.

With the Armory turned into a basket ball court everything is ready for the opening game of the season tonight when the Lakota Cardinals clash with the fast Camp Grant five.

Captain Oscar Oimar of Camp Grant stated yesterday that the team he is bringing to Janesville is the best basketball team he ever saw. It is composed entirely of former college stars who have not been defeated this season.

Captain Hemming of the Lakota Cardinals has gathered an array of stars for the game that should make the first defeat of the so-called pests. The Janesville team will be composed entirely of stars well known in this city and should easily uphold the record made by the Cardinals in the past.

Every effort has been made to convert the Armory into one of the finest basket ball courts in the state and several basketters who visited the hall yesterday stated that the place should make an ideal court. The average floor is larger than the average and gives the teams ample room for fast work. Seats will be provided for everyone and music will be furnished during the game.

During the war, basket ball was dropped in this city about two years. The auditorium was sold and converted into a garage, and it looked as if basket ball in Janesville was a thing of the past.

Whether local people want basket ball or not remains to be seen and it is up to them to support the team and assist in making it one that will make a strong bid for the A. A. U. championship this year.

The line up of the teams follows:

Cardinals	Camp Grant
Phillips	... 1st. ...
Murphy	... 2nd. ...
Heming	... center. ...
Tillie	... 3rd. ...
Sutton	... 4th. ...

NATIONAL LEAGUE CUTS SALARY LIMIT

New York, Jan. 16.—National league baseball players will receive an unpleasant surprise with their 1919 salaries, as a result of the Senate's action on Wednesday in adopting a cut salary limit of not more than $11,000 per month. This is the most radical financial retrenchment attempted by a major league in many years and will prove a startling surprise to those diamond stars who may have expected a continuation of the high salaries and long time contracts of yore.

Under the new regulations, which was adopted by a vote of 4 to 2, the maximum monthly salary limit during the playing season must not exceed $11,000 plus the manager's salary. This will make the seasonal payroll foot up approximately $60,000 for a playing period of about five and a half months. With a club roster of twenty-two men the average will be $300 per player per month. The new rule also carries a penalty in the form of a fine of $600,000 for every infraction.

MORRIS MILLER

Major Benson S. Prentiss, who has just returned from his duties abroad with the Red Cross, brings the news that Italy is planning to enter a team in the next Davis Cup matches. The international trophy was won in 1914 by the Australasian team. The United States Lawn Tennis Association, at the last meeting of the executive committee, passed a resolution suggesting that a team from the country enter the international competition for the cup in 1920. The matches will have a greater international flavor than ever before, as it is very likely that teams from this country, Australia, England, France and Italy may compete.

As the special representative abroad of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, Major Prentiss was in touch with many of the American players, and their reports as being keenly interested in activities here. He met a number of the ranking men, as well as many other tennis players who are in the service, and was able to keep them informed of conditions at home.

"It has been a wonderful demonstration of the value of sport in promoting international friendships," he said, "describing conditions in Italy, 'the interest which the Italians took in our sports. Tennis was played in some of the larger cities there, but no such scale as in this country. Consequently, they welcomed the chance to play, and whenever the opportunity was afforded the officers in particular took up the game eagerly and did surprisingly well."

"In fact, their interest is so keen that they told their planning to enter a team for the Davis Cup matches. As soon as conditions permit formal communications on the subject, they will arrange to send their representatives to compete. Nothing is so helpful in achieving the 'entente cordiale' desired by the allied nations as these international events, and they have been quick to recognize the benefits resulting from such competition."

Major Prentiss said that tennis has been one of the most popular sports at the base hospitals in France. Not only have the courts installed there been kept busy all day, but some have been equipped for night work as well. Section 603, one of the units of the United States Army Ambulance service, based by the U. S. T. A. was in the Paris drive just before the signing of the armistice and did very effective work.

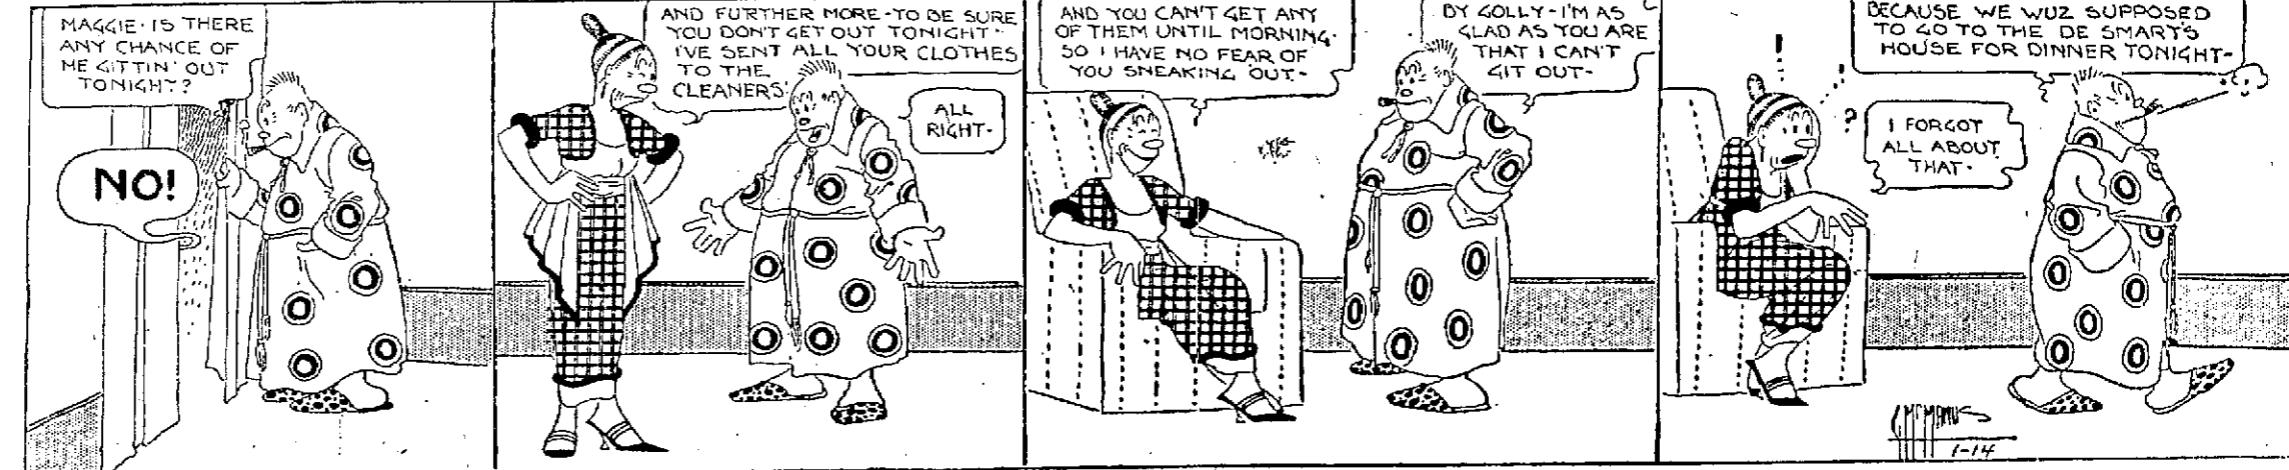

Jockey Frankie Robinson closed the year as leading rider of the thoroughbred racing season, having ridden more winners than any of his rivals. Up to a moment ago, he reigned in a comfortable lead, but when he retired for a rest, Robinson resolutely restarted his efforts and by riding many winners during the recent meetings at New Orleans forged into a safe lead. Alarmed by the fact that his margin was fast diminishing, Lyke rushed down to the Crescent City, but he arrived too late to overtake his rival.

The success of the trapshooting school on the Million Dollar pier, Atlantic City, N. J., may prompt the Interstate Trapshooting Association to open other trapshooting schools in different sections of the United States and Canada.

Thousands of converts have been made to trapshooting at the Atlantic City school and the belief is that schools at the winter sea-side and mountain resorts thousands of new trapshooters would be made each year.

Spring horse racing in Kentucky this year will extend over a sixty-one day period, including Lexington, Louisville and Latonia meetings.

THE COMEBACK OF SPORTS

AMATEUR ATHLETICS

(By Jack Velock) Internation News Sports Editor.

New York, Jan. 16.—The outlook for amateur athletics in the United States was never brighter, according to Frederick W. Rubien, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, in commenting on prospects for 1919.

Amateur athletics—track and field, boxing, wrestling, basketball, gymnasiums and swimming—is due for a big boom now that peace has come," says Mr. Rubien.

"These branches of amateur sports will be followed on a broader scale this year than ever before. I feel confident that many new spots will come into being and one of the big reasons may be found in the fact that nearly three million young men who have been trained for army life during the last eighteen months now realize the benefits of such training.

"For the first time in the history of the Amateur Athletic Union, its list of the national championship awards is practically complete for the entire year. There were two or more applications for every event awarded, and the list of awards shows the great interest being taken in all sections of the country in these sports.

"When the amateur Athletic Union of the United States was organized in thirty years ago it incorporated in its constitution as one of its objectives the promotion of municipal state and local legislation in the interest of the institution of public playgrounds, gymnasiums and fields for amateur sports of the United States."

"Many public baths, gymnasiums and athletic fields have been built, but every important city in United States cannot boast of a first class athletic field containing a quarter mile track enclosing a field suitable for football and baseball games and providing accommodations for officials, basketball and other field games. Every city should be able to point with pride to such a field where its youth may participate in health-giving athletic sports."

"March will be the banner month in indoor activities. The Boston Athletic Association will stage its annual indoor games in that month, and the national indoor championships will be held in New York March 8.

"The big Millrose A. A. games, always a feature of the early months of the year in athletics in the metropolis, will be held here March 12, while the Meadowbrook club of Algonquin will stage its games March 15 and the Western indoor championships will be held at Chicago on March 22.

"An indication that athletics are coming back strong may be pointed to in the action of the Irish-American Athletic Club of New York, which
